

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE LONDON - GOWER STREET WCI

DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY

Professor P. B. MEDAWAR

Telephone EUSTON 7050

August 2nd 1957

Dear Dr Lederberg,

I have just been obliged to write to Dr Hollaender to say that owing to "circumstances beyond my control" it will not after all be possible for me to visit the U.S. next year. The fact is that I am giving the Waynefleete Lectures at my old College in Oxford, and this is a major commitment for which I have to set aside every spare moment of my time. I have, indeed, refused every temptation to go abroad next year, though none with such regret as the combined Gatlinburg-Wisconsin trip.

I know that Billingham will be going to your conference, so that the immunology of transplantation will not be unrepresented.

May I take this opportunity of wishing you all possible success in your new enterprise? I'm still hoping we shall meet some day!

Yours sincerely,

Dr Joshua Lederberg,
Genetics Building,
University of Wisconsin,
Madison, Wis.,
U.S.A.

